An ornate, hand-drawn illustration of a music classroom. At the top, a banner draped across the scene reads "Singing, Ancient & Compositional". Below the banner, a group of students are seated at a long table covered with sheet music. A teacher, a woman in a long dress, stands at the front of the room, holding a book. The room has large windows on the left. The entire scene is framed by elaborate, swirling scrollwork. Musical instruments are integrated into the frame: a violin is on the left, a large bass is on the right, and a lute-like instrument is at the bottom. The style is reminiscent of 19th-century educational illustrations.
